Green Power Sweden Summit 2025

Formerly known as VIND – now in a broader format.

Green Power Sweden Summit 2025 is the natural meeting place for decision-makers, experts, and companies working together to drive the transformation of the energy system. Building on the legacy of previous VIND conferences, the platform now embraces a wider range of perspectives and technologies – from wind and solar power to energy storage and grid infrastructure.

The new name reflects this broader scope and ambition: to enable a robust, competitive, and climate-smart energy system.

The conference is organized by Green Power Sweden Ekonomisk Förening (reg. no. 769609-1250), formerly the Swedish Wind Energy Association.
